"RUDOLPH" LEADS THE WAY FOR SANTA CLAUSGuides Four Other Reindeer with Sleigh of Gifts to Fairless Hills*CAROL 'BACKGROUND'

FAIRLESS HILLS, Dec. 21—Christmas dreams of the children living here became a realization last evening when Santa Claus arrived at the Messer house with a huge sleigh-full of gifts, led by a very red nosed Rudolph and four other reindeer.

Even the drenching rain could not dampen the children's enthusiasm as they crowded around the sleigh to receive a gift and some fruit from Santa's six lovely helpers.

Most of the adults gathered on the porch of the Messer House to sing Christmas carols and to watch their children meet Santa. From the porch, the large Christmas tree ablaze with lights provided a beautiful background for the sleigh and reindeer and the happy, excited youngsters.

Michael Jacob, 159 Coventry road, had three children visit Santa. Thomas, Jr., up to see Santa where he received a doll almost as tall as himself.

At least two more sets of brothers and sisters visited Santa last night when Martha, six, and John, nine, children of Mr. John Kurtz of 227 Chelsea road, and Mary Ann, eight and Dennis, 10, children of Mr. Walter Gesker, 207 Andover road received their presents. Mary Ann

FAMILIES FORCED TO LEAVE; CREEK IS STILL RISINGHeavy Down-Pour, Coupled With Melting Snow And Ice, Raises Streams*SOME WIRES DOWN*Families Move From Point Near Proposed Sewage Disposal Plant

The heavy down-pour of last evening, and the rains which continued throughout the night and this morning, plus the melting snow and ice caused a rise in Neshaminy Creek sufficient to make a number of families in the Fergusonville section to move to temporary safety.

On the east bank of the Neshaminy are the homes of Mrs. John White and the Laros family. The former went to her daughter's home; and the Laros family to Philadelphia. Preparing to move at mid-morning in case of necessity were: Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Flood, the Schnaider, Wentzel and Parker families.

MORE FORTUNATE HELP SPREAD YULE CHEERThoughtfulness on Part of Organizations Will Make Christmas Merrier*GIVE FOOD, CLOTHING

For many an unfortunate family or individual Christmas would indeed be a drab and dreary time, if it were not for the thoughtfulness of a number of organizations and groups.

With happiness in their hearts for the greatest gift of all—the Christ Child—members of associations in Bristol have for the past several weeks been planning to spread some of the good things to others who have not been as prosperous, or who have had temporary setbacks. Some of the cheer is in the form of food baskets, poultry, warm clothing, or possibly toys for the kiddies. For a number of ill and shut-ins there are plants, flowers, and greeting cards.

A number of organizations have already made their distributions, while some will wait until the eve of Christmas. But whenever the presents are received they will be much appreciated, as much for the fact of the thoughtfulness as for the material gifts.

When a number of packages reach certain service camps overseas, the men to whom they were consigned will find them filled with holiday gifts from Bristol Business Girls' Club. This club staged a Christmas party for 25 children in the Travel Club home Saturday. The kiddies were from Bristol born.

EXPLOSION WRECKS TWO-STORY BRICK HOUSE; AGED COUPLE DRIVEN OUT OF BED INTO DRENCHING RAIN-STORMProperty of Otto Viehweiger Ruined and He and His Housekeeper, Mrs. Hedwig Rocher, Escape Uninjured — Blast, Heard for Several Miles, Rocks the Area — Firemen Rush to The Scene.

(Special to Courier)

DAVISVILLE, Dec. 21—A six-room brick house was ruined and two aged people escaped into a drenching rain when an explosion, shortly after midnight, wrecked the home of Otto Viehweiger, Street Road and Davisville Road. Three sides of the house were blown completely out and the roof left hanging to the fourth side.

Viehweiger, 77, and his housekeeper, Mrs. Hedwig Rocher, 73, were rocked from their beds.

The cause of the explosion had not been determined early today, but it is thought that perhaps gas from a leaking gas main may have followed the gas pipe into the basement. The oil burner was still functioning after the explosion.

At the time of the explosion which was about 12:30 this morning, Viehweiger was asleep, on the first floor and Mrs. Rocher on the second floor.

Both were aroused from their beds with the terrific explosion which shook the vicinity. Firemen were called but there was no fire. The loss is placed at about $15,000.

Police Chief Clarence Heppie, Upper Southampton Township, was called and aided in the work of rescuing the couple and directing traffic.

The car was loaded with boxes of galoshes in the rear section. Bristol firemen were called as gasoline was leaking from the vehicle and this led to the discovery of the car. THE SPIRITUAL BASE

Morale in the armed forces is a compound of factors, of which ethical and spiritual impulses form the soundest base. This is recognized in all religions and at the highest levels of command. To further the spiritual basis of morale an evangelistic program for the armed forces in the United States will be put into effect for two months after New Year's.

Sponsors are the National Council of the Churches of Christ in America and the General Commission on Chaplains. The preaching and singing missions at more than 100 Army and Navy camps will last the better part of a week, at each camp. Participating will be more than 250 preachers of 40 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox communions. The program's theme is, "Christ Is the Answer."

The President, wishing the program well, wrote:

"As we build up our military strength to secure the free world from aggression, we must be equally diligent to strengthen the moral and spiritual life of our armed forces. The struggle in which we and our allies are engaged is, as the Apostle Paul so aptly put it, 'Against the rulers of the darkness of this world.' To keep such darkness from our nations, we must be constantly alert to those spiritual values on which our country is built."

Importance of the spiritual factor in morale is further recognized in the invitation of Gen. Van Fleet for Cardinal Spellman to spend Christmas with the troops in Korea. The Cardinal has accepted. He hopes to be able to celebrate mass in three different sectors of the front on Christmas.

Western civilization is built upon spiritual intimations which recognize the worth of the individual soul. Our armed forces, in combat and out, for all their bluff exterior, have given repeated proofs of their devotion to ethical and spiritual values.

SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL

Revelations before the House subcommittee investigating the tax scandals produce more scandals daily. Many of the leads turned up will require elaboration, but the word around Washington is that only the surface has been scratched.

Senator Wiley feels he is on the trail of something over in the Alien Property Custodian's Office. A financial statement just issued on operations since 1942 of the German-owned General Aniline and Film Corporation reveals that a number of big politicians collected lush amounts of money. It certainly appears the beneficiaries could be included in Mr. Truman's "special interests" category.

Amazing angles have been turned up in this current school for scandal, and perhaps in the near future still newer ways of turning a dishonest buck will be revealed. Meanwhile, the public waits avidly for more explanations from men who, in the curious phraseology of the Attorney General, may have been "weak" but are not "dishonest".

Families Forced To Leave; Creek Is Still Rising

Corporation, builders of Fairless Hills.

Victor Cotshot, a member of the Fergusonville Community Association, stated that morning that the creek was overflowing the Neshaminy banks about a half mile above the proposed site of the disposal system. "This is just the situation that we have been calling attention to, knowing the creek quite often overflows in that area," he stated. "There are some families who have moved out and others are ready to move, as the waters are still rising. Several families moved their cars from the low-land and parked them along Newportville road."

The 1951 fall season drew toward its end amid showers of rain and a rise of temperature totaling 35 degrees in 24 hours. The jump in temperature and the rain cleared many of the highways and sidewalks in town of ice and snow. Some of the highways in the rural sections were turned for a time into sheets of ice.

Winter is scheduled to arrive tomorrow morning at 11:01.

With such quantities of water, melting snow and ice, the Neshaminy Creek had risen to the point at 7:30 this morning where it threatened to over-flow the road-way at a point between Newportville and Hulmeville. Along that stretch of roadway a sheet of ice underlay the rain and many motorists were taken unawares. Two cars were abandoned temporarily when they skidded off the highway, one coming to a halt down an embankment on the west side of Main street, with its front wheel about touching the water of the swollen creek.

Wires in some sections, Christmas decorations were torn loose by the high winds. Creeks and streams and the Delaware river began to show a rise as the rain and melted snows and ice flowed into them from the fields and highlands.

The Delaware River here was about a foot above normal at nine o'clock this morning, expectation being that it would be higher by tomorrow when the waters from the northern section of the stream reach here.

In Chalfont, Miss Bertha Bartleman, 58, suffered a possible fractured left leg when the front porch of her home, weighted by ice and snow, collapsed as she went out to place empty bottles for the milkman. She was taken to Abington Memorial Hospital in the Chalfont Fire Co. ambulance.

Mr. and Mrs. Levittowner 1952—

Thank you and a Merry Xmas!

ON SATURDAY, Dec. 8—just two weeks ago—we opened the Levittown Exhibit for the first time. In those short two weeks—two weeks just before Christmas, when you were all busy shopping, more than one thousand of you paid deposits for homes in Levittown! You'll move in next Spring and early Summer and we'll do everything to make you happy.

► Such a huge volume of purchases is unprecedented. It's a new record even for us—and we've been setting new records for speed, for value, for soundness of construction, for a long time now. We appreciate your faith and confidence in us, and we won't let you down. That's a promise!

► We know a great many more of you—many thousands of you—are thinking it over. You've talked to us, we've tried to answer all your questions, and we know most of you will be moving to Levittown sooner or later.

► You've liked what you've seen so far. And most of you seem to be excited about what we plan to do in the future. You like our idea of free swimming pools, recreational areas, baseball fields, playgrounds with ladders and slides and merry-go-rounds for the tiny tots.

► The Town Hall, as the center of community life, has its appeal for you. Like its famous twin, Levittown, Long Island, you'll have your own symphony orchestra, your own choral groups, your own amateur theatricals, your own community association.

► It all adds up to something more than just four walls, something much more vital—a real place for living, not just a place to hang your hat!

► Please don't wait too long, folks, or you'll be disappointed. At the rate you're making applications all of 1952's houses will be sold long before the very first one is completed. Come out as soon as you can—today, if possible. The Exhibit is open seven days a week from 10 A.M. to 6 P.M. Applications call for a deposit of $100 which is refunded if you change your mind. Settlement charges total just ten dollars—included in the down payments shown above—and just about everything you need—except furniture—is included in the price.

► A Merry Christmas to all of you, and a Happy New Year for 1952 and all the years to come—in Levittown, the most perfectly planned community in America!

More Fortunate Help Spread Yule Cheer

ough and Bristol township. Santa arrived in the person of Vernon Howell, and gave each child a new toy and a re-conditioned toy. The latter were re-finished by Cub Scouts. When refreshment time arrived ice cream, cookies, candy canes, hard candies, and oranges were served. Additional used toys which had been re-finished, will be distributed to some families in this area for Christmas. A brightly-decorated tree added to festivities.

Christmas season will be brightened for some families in the food-stricken part of Italy through kindness of members of Daughters of Italy. This group sent $50 through the Grand Lodge, D. of I., for aid to the homeless.

St. Ann's A. Ladies Auxiliary plans to fill three baskets with food for distribution to the less fortunate at the holiday time.

Sweets and nuts were included in packages shipped overseas and to service camps in this country, the recipients of these gifts being servicemen. The American Legion Auxiliary of Robert W. Bracken Post made this possible. Also remembered with packages for the Yuletide are hospitalized veterans. The auxiliary's "adopted" boy at Scotland School sent a letter to "Santa Claus" and this was passed on to that jolly fellow by the unit, and gift dispatched. Some food baskets will be prepared by the Auxiliary for distribution in this area at Christmas.

The Chester W. Terchon Post and Ladies Auxiliary cooperates in arranging Christmas cheer. The two units provided grocery coupons for 14 families of veterans whose holidays would otherwise be dreary; and last Sunday they held a party for unit members and those less fortunate in the post home.

Hopkins Lodge, No. 87, I. O. O. F., is caring for some food orders for various families also.

A consignment of gifts is ready to be sent to the guests at the Shepherds of Bethlehem home, Haddonfield, N. J., the donors being members of Shepherds Delight Lodge, here. The localities also provided a quantity of holiday greeting cards and postage stamps for use of the home guests.

Fruits, groceries, plants and candy are being distributed to about 40 shut-ins by Catholic Daughters of America (Court Bristol), in addition to a large basket of groceries to a family in need.

The color guard of Bracken Post Cadet Corps has prepared food baskets for distribution to some unfortunate folk; and the Boosters Association has provided a chicken for each basket.

Unusual Birds To Be Seen In This State This Winter

STATE COLLEGE, Dec. 21—Unusual, handsome visitors from the bird world may be seen in Pennsylvania this winter.

Merrill Wood, assistant professor of zoology at the Pennsylvania State College, said today that evening grosbeaks are appearing in Pennsylvania and other states earlier and in larger numbers than ever before.

A flock of pine grosbeaks have been observed on the Penn State campus for the first time in 21 years, Wood says. They were first noted on November 11 and he explains that this is only the third time on record that the birds have been seen here.

The adult male evening grosbeak can be recognized by its yellow color and black and white wings, while the female birds are more grayish and yellow. They are often seen feeding in box elder trees. Pine grosbeaks are robin-sized birds, the males a rosy-red color with two white wing bars, and the females a grayish color with white wing bars.

Both species of grosbeaks breed in the northern spruce forests of Canada, Wood explains, so their appearance in this area provides a rare opportunity for birdlovers.

the bridge over the Penna. Railroad tracks at Fallington, involving two passenger cars, a pick-up truck and a tractor trailer truck.

Samuel J. Domino, New Castle, Del. was operating a 1947 sedan travelling west on U. S. Route No. 1 when the vehicle went into a skid and collided into a 1942 pick-up truck operated by Charles Steiner, Hulmeville road, Fallington, travelling east on U. S. Route No. 1.

Damage to the Domino machine amounted to $300 and to Steiner's machine, $150. No injuries were reported.

Domino and Steiner were attempting to halt traffic and had stopped the 1949 sedan operated by Howard North, Penna. Avenue, Fallington, who was headed east on U. S. No. 1. When the North vehicle attempted to negotiate, a tractor trailer belonging to Yale Transport Co., New York City, travelling east also, operated by Nathaniel Dunn, N. 22nd street, Philadelphia, skidded and collided into the North vehicle causing the truck to jack-knife, blocking traffic, according to police.

No injuries were reported according to Franklin Kirby, Falls town.

NEWS OF SCHOOLS IN AREA---

All public, private and parochial schools in the Bristol area are invited to send news items for publication in this column which appears frequently.

Council Rock District
NEWTOWN, Dec. 21—On Tuesday, the members of the junior high school student council decorated the Christmas tree in the upper hall. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wilbur, Churchville, donated the tree.

Members of the decorating committee were: Geraldine Tomlinson, "Bill" Caul, Anne Starr, Lee Walker, Elaine Turner, Steven Wilbur, Alvan Wilkes, and "Terry" Frechem.

The equipment club, in cooperation with the student council, set up the amplifying system on which carols will be played in the morning, at noon, and after school hours. The boys and girls have also provided "white gifts" for distribution to needy families.

For today the dramatics club and music department scheduled a program in the junior high assembly. The chorus, directed by Mrs. Shick expressed the "Christmas Spirit" by singing carols alternated with choral readings. Five carols were sung by the sextet while the chorus hummed.

"The Boar's Head," a native carol of England, was illustrated by four boys carrying a papier mache boar's head, while the chorus sang.

The dramatics club gave a play "Santa Goes to Town," produced and coached by "Kathy" Bodnar. The devotions were led by Carol Vandeventer. Participants were: Margie VanHart, Sally Booth, Virginia Bomler, Deanna Krusen, "Connie" Walker, Mary Lou Neal, Ruth Porter, Elaine Rucker, Ruth Sullivan.

The dramatics club is directed by Mrs. Hartzel.

On January 14th, the Denison Players will be at the senior high school to present a play entitled "The Patsy," a comedy written for high schools and colleges. It tells the story of Patricia Harrington, a girl who "runs second" to her older sister. She is the "Patsy" who is blamed when anything goes wrong and must remain in the background, so her sister may be presented to advantage.

The cast is being supervised by Edward A. Wright.

A "movie," "Count of Monte Cristo," will be shown in the high school.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1951
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. The departure of John S. Service from the State Department's payroll is a development of significance far beyond the personality involved.

Service represents an attitude about working for the government that is an outgrowth of a political party incapable of thinking it can ever be stripped of its political powers.

Service clung to his job through six loyalty investigations. It now is evident that he must have been able to do so only because Secretary of State Dean Acheson, and/or others of his superiors were doing everything they could to keep him on the payroll. Never once in the loyalty probes was the government given the benefit of the doubt until the Loyalty Review Board, sick of the stalling, dumped him.

In effect, the Board found that palling around with Communists constitutes "doubtful loyalty" and is grounds for firing a government employee. If this is carried to its logical conclusion we can expect a sharp reduction in federal employment rolls. For what the Board did was to give the government a break for a change, by determining that Service did not have an inherent right to his job. And this was done despite the fact that Acheson and other high salaried employees of the Department have been touring the country shouting that Senator Joseph R. McCarthy is a liar and that the State Department is clean as a whistle.

For instance, Ambassador at Large Philip Jessup, still is on the government payroll. He has never been allergic to Communists, not even some who were fresh out of the Kremlin. And the State Department, or Loyalty Review Board, if properly prodded, might send a messenger up to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee for the proof.

Jessup was an official of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which describes itself as nothing more than a club of scholars, interested in the Far East. The facts show otherwise. At the time Jessup was active in the IPR there were more Communists running in and out the front door than in the newsroom of The Daily Worker.

So far Senator Pat McCarran's investigation of the IPR has turned up 44 Reds in the organization, and that is only about half of them. Jessup dealt with all of them, although he has denied he knew they were Communists, with the exception of his friend Frederick V. Field. And it was years before he would even believe that.

But the evidence about Jessup's buddies did not prevent President Truman from trying to jam Jessup's appointment to the UN conference in Paris down the Senate's throat. The Senators gagged over him and ducked a showdown fight, but Jessup went overseas anyway as an official of the U. S. Government. So about all we can do is hope that he isn't a soft touch to the Muscovites he's meeting there, although while in the IPR he never made a fuss about taking orders from the Reds or running around the world with them.

There are others in the State Department just like him. They always get the breaks when somebody hangs a left-wing label on them. The State Department and other agencies always deny it and then start hiding from public view any contrary facts there might be in the files.

For instance, O. Edmund Clubb was head of the State Department's China desk, until a few weeks ago when somebody put a burr under Acheson and Clubb was shuffled to the sidelines for another loyalty check. Just what the new evidence is that brought Acheson out of his coma hasn't been revealed, but it might be the fact that when Clubb came trotting back from China his first stop was at the office of The New Masses, the Communist rag that always has admitted it was speaking for the Kremlin.

Dr. Esther Calkin Brunauer is another State Department official on the sidelines awaiting another loyalty check. She was before the Tydings Committee, but the ex-Senator from Maryland wound up giving her a pat on the back, just as he did so many others. Somebody found something in her record a short time later that was rough enough to force the State Department to suspend her.

So it goes. First the accusation, then the blast of total innocence from all hands, especially the State Department, and then later the suspension.

Up until now there always has been the assumption that the employee has total job rights, the government none; that any doubts should be resolved in favor of the employee and against the government. Maybe it's wishful thinking, but the John Stewart Service ruling suggests that things might be the other way around in the future.
